30 Suppose that your database system has failed. Describe the database recovery process and the use of deferred-write and write-through techniques.

40 What does this statement mean: The Web is a stateless system? What implications does a stateless system have for database applications developers?